HI USA celebrates Sleep for Peace annually to commemorate the United Nations International Day of Peace, September 21.

10 WAYS
HI USA CAPTURED THE GLOBAL STAGE

Hostelling International USA 2017 Annual Report
Dear Hostelling Friend,

We believe that:

…the transformative power of travel can help create a more tolerant world

…travel is for everyone, regardless of background or financial circumstances

…environmentally responsible travel is the only way to travel

In 2017, we advanced these beliefs through programs such as Sleep for Peace, which was formally recognized by the United Nations World Tourism Organization. Our Explore the World travel scholarships grew by 20% to assist nearly 100 worthy young people who would not otherwise have been financially able to travel. The number of programs and activities offered by our hostels grew to over 5,800 and program participation grew to nearly 124,000 participants. Our volunteer involvement increased to include 1,936 individuals who contributed over 30,000 hours in program activities.

As we advance our mission, we have been recognized as a leader in youth travel education by the United Nations and the UN World Tourism Organization. Even as we have done so, we have not forgotten the importance of providing safe and affordable accommodations for young travelers, as first envisioned by our founders, Isabel and Monroe Smith. And our hostels continue to receive awards for responsible environmental practices and stewardship. We continue to expand the hostel network in destinations that attract young travelers. In October, we broke ground for our new hostel in New Orleans, which involves the rehabilitation of an historic building in the heart of that city.

None of this would have been achieved without your continuing support. In 2018, we expect an innovative initiative with affiliate hostels will begin the substantial expansion of our network. With your involvement, we also expect our educational and volunteer outreach to continue to reach a greater number of young people.

Thank you,

Glenn Azuma  Russell Hedge
Board Chair  President & CEO
10 Ways HI USA Captured the Global Stage

This past year was a critical catalyst in HI USA’s quest to achieve Vision 2020, now just a few years away. HI USA’s goal for 2020 is that hostelling will foster a dynamic, enduring community of travelers with the wisdom, humanity and leadership skills to improve our country, our communities, and our world.

Realizing these goals are important for everyone who supports our mission, stays at our hostels and participates in our programs. Take a look at our year in review with 10 Ways HI USA Captured the Global Stage.

Vision 2020
HI USA will be:

- A leading hostel provider in the world
- A valued source of experiential learning
- A widely recognized champion for intercultural understanding
- An effective advocate for youth travel
- A vibrant presence in communities across the United States

Hack for 2030

In support of 2017 as the International Year of Sustainable Tourism, HI USA launched Pack Your Impact to educate travelers on how to maximize social impact, while minimizing environmental impact. The year kicked off with Hack For 2030, a hackathon based on creative problem solving to ideate solutions for the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Held in partnership with England-based World Merit and Netherlands-based Wanderbrief, the 48-hour innovation marathon attracted 17 hackers from 10 countries and designed projects to address four SDGs. The event was held entirely at HI Boston, where “hackers” spent five nights immersing in the hostel experience, taking advantage of common spaces and bonding with participants and other guests of diverse backgrounds.
Upon hearing about Hack For 2030, HI USA was asked by the World Youth and Student Education Travel Confederation to make a presentation at their global Hostel Conference in Amsterdam. Attended by 500 industry professionals and vendors from around the world, HI USA used the platform to show how programs like the hackathon can make a hostel so much more than just a place to stay.

HI USA believes everyone should have a turn on the global stage, regardless of background or financial means. Thanks to our generous donors, we increased the number of $2,000 Explore the World travel scholarships by 20%, from 81 in 2016 to 98 in 2017. To be eligible, applicants must meet strict financial need standards.

With the help of 151 volunteers across 14 cities promoting the program and reviewing applications, award recipients embark on a service learning or educational opportunity abroad. The 98 award winners will have visited 40 countries combined and served the communities they traveled to, while bringing home an enhanced world view that will last a lifetime.

Lindsey is a junior majoring in Integrative Biology at the University of California, Berkeley, and aspires to become a pediatrician. The 21-year-old is committed to working with children from underrepresented communities, and volunteers with a mentoring program at UC Berkeley.

With the Explore the World scholarship, Lindsey participated in a MEDLIFE Brigade to Lima, Peru. She shadowed doctors, taught children valuable hygiene skills such as tooth brushing, and helped in triage stations. She also had her first hostelling experience!

“Thank you, Explore the World, for helping this amazing opportunity become a reality! It gave me a greater appreciation for different perspectives and cultures when considering world topics.” – Lindsey H.
To inspire even more Americans to travel the world, HI USA hostels host educational classes to foster interest and understanding of other cultures and the value of intercultural exchange. The programs are as varied as the communities they serve.

In the San Francisco Bay Area, it starts with discovering your own backyard. Despite their proximity to natural wonders, many underprivileged students in the Bay Area are denied access to simple pleasures, like visiting the ocean or hiking forested land. Outdoor Hostel Adventures opens these young eyes to a world they never knew existed. This hands-on learning program set in the outdoors is designed to inspire a curiosity to see and do more in the world around. In FY17, more than 1,100 youth participated.

At HI Richmond, Cooking as a Second Language takes hostel guests and community members on a journey of cultural exploration through food as they prepare a meal from a different country and share cultural insights. More than 100 individuals have participated so far, and a Facebook Live of this new program garnered more than 300,000 views.

HI NYC’s Travel Bootcamp helps prepare novice travelers for their first time abroad. This action-oriented class earned TV news coverage across the New York area and continues to grow in popularity.

With education programs like these and more nationwide, HI USA is preparing a new generation of aspiring global citizens to take on the world stage.

For some, before they can explore the world, they need to explore their own country. Explore America is a needs-based scholarship designed to spark a lifelong affinity for travel among those who have yet to experience its benefits. Recipients receive free overnights at HI USA hostels, along with a $500 stipend. In its pilot year, this opportunity was granted to 6 young adults who are now curious and ready to embark on a journey of what the rest of the world has to offer.

“I gained countless lessons from this journey... thank you for empowering me to do more, see more, and be more myself.” - Katrina P.

Another component of the Pack Your Impact campaign was an app-based scavenger hunt in support of the UNWTO’s Tips for a Responsible Traveler. Earning endorsement and promotion by the UNWTO, this game was designed to introduce travelers to the sustainable side of every destination, no matter where in the world they found themselves. Played on a smart phone, the game engaged travelers in eight different countries and featured prizes from HI USA, as well as Lonely Planet.
Nearly 1,200 visionary young adults from 112 countries gathered in New York City for the 2017 Summer Youth Assembly at the United Nations. HI USA CEO Russ Hedge was invited to address this global community on the panel, The Power of Youth: Making A Difference Through Sustainable Tourism, on behalf of WYSE Travel Confederation and Hostelling International. Sitting alongside representatives from the UNWTO, Hilton Worldwide, and Travel + Social Good, Hedge shared powerful data on the growth of youth travel, its proven cultural exchange benefits, and our hostels’ role in furthering both cross-cultural and environmental goals.

What started as a HI USA initiative in 2013, has grown into an international celebration across 28 countries, with more than 5,600 participants worldwide. As part of the United Nations International Day of Peace on September 21, Sleep For Peace is an annual celebration of the peacebuilding aspects of hostelling and travel. In FY17, HI USA joined with Hostelling International to launch a new element that would unite hostels worldwide: Shine Blue for Peace.

Free of cultural, financial, or location-based barriers, a blue light was easily adapted by virtually any location, while making a highly visual statement to guests. Creativity ran rampant, from holiday lights to skylights, with the intention of using the blue light to spark conversation among guests about the greater purpose.

The blue light created a unified statement around the world about the power of our hostels and our contribution to the peace movement.

The Great Hostel Give Back helps us serve our local communities, while welcoming new hostellers into our global community of travelers. Throughout January and February 2017, groups received a free night for each day they volunteered in the local community. About 480 individuals served over 3,900 hours.
While HI USA captured a global stage, we also welcomed the world into our vibrant hostels. Our hostels are strategically designed to foster interaction among guests of diverse backgrounds, while enjoying modern, comfortable spaces. This year’s hostel improvements focused on updating common spaces to be more welcoming.

From renovating the sleeping quarters and bathrooms at HI Santa Monica, to updating the pool area at HI Houston, The Morty Rich Hostel, to revamping outdoor space at HI Harpers Ferry, we gave a variety of hostels, large and small, an inviting refresh.

Additionally, to support our commitment to sustainability, HI USA recently launched an Environmental Action Fund, which will support projects that help us reduce our carbon footprint, work towards zero waste, educate our local communities, improve our native environments, and more.

a) Non-cash valuation of the potential “prepayment” fee for unwinding a 10-year loan agreement.

b) A decision was made to not move forward with the development of a hostel. Based on accounting guidelines, this decision created an impairment loss for the book value of the asset on the balance sheet at 3/31/16. The impairment loss represents a non-cash write-off of the book value. Additional costs to close down the development were incurred in FY17, which were recorded as other non-operating expense.

“I am so very grateful for the many wonderful trips that I took during my student days and know that the 3 Marks or 2 Pounds or 10,000 Lire hardly covered the cost of my stays in youth hostels around Europe.
My donations to Hostelling International USA are a way for me to recognize the generosity of those who provided when I had just enough for food and a youth hostel bed. I am very pleased that HI USA works hard to expand the opportunities for travel and important encounters of people from all parts of the world. With great appreciation for all that HI USA does!”
- John Paluch, HI USA donor
Hostelling Legacy Society

HI USA thanks and honors the following members of the Hostelling Legacy Society who have so generously included legacy gifts to HI USA in their wills or trusts. Their foresight will help ensure that future generations of hostellers can have the same meaningful experiences they had.

International Awards

There are more than 4,000 HI hostels worldwide and an estimated 35,000 hostels overall, so HI USA's 6 globally-recognized awards in FY17 speak volumes to the experience we provide. Our awards include:
HI New Orleans to Open in Fall 2018!

A striking building just one block from the French Quarter will soon be home to a 150+ bed hostel. The rich history and culture of this southern city made it an ideal choice to expand HI USA, and we look forward to offering meaningful programming to engage the community.

Even before the hostel opens, we’ll offer Explore the World travel scholarships to kickstart our mission delivery. For more information or to support this project, visit hiusa.org/neworleans.
