FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HI USA TO REOPEN SELECT HOSTELS

Country’s Largest Hostel Network Opens its Doors with Reduced Capacity, new “Let’s Stay Safe, Together” Health and Safety Program, and Special Savings for Guests

SILVER SPRING, MD – August 28, 2020 – Hostelling International USA (HI USA), the nation’s largest hostel network, has announced the reopening of ten of its hostels beginning September 2, 2020. In April, it closed most of its U.S. hostels as a result of the pandemic and in accordance with state and local mandates. Hostels have since reconfigured their guest rooms and public spaces to allow for more distancing, and HI USA has created new health and safety procedures—its “Let’s Stay Safe, Together” program—in order to welcome guests back to its hostels.

The first hostels to reopen are:

- HI San Diego Downtown Hostel on September 2
- HI San Diego Point Loma Hostel on September 3
- HI Point Montara Lighthouse Hostel on September 3
- HI Boston Hostel on September 10
- HI LA Santa Monica Hostel on September 10
- HI Chicago Hostel on September 18
- HI Pigeon Point Lighthouse Hostel on September 18
- HI New York City Hostel on September 25
- HI San Francisco Downtown Hostel and HI Point Reyes Hostel are also reopening, but will remain closed until local conditions & regulations allow them to host guests

Guests at the larger gateway hostels can enjoy great savings and flexibility with a reopening “Let’s Go” special, which offers 15% off the Best Flexible Rate, plus no pre-payment and free cancellation up to 24 hours prior to stay, through January 4, 2021.

In a first for HI USA, the coastal HI Point Montara Lighthouse, HI Pigeon Point Lighthouse and HI Point Reyes hostels will reopen as vacation rentals, so a group or family can rent private units on the properties, two of which are in restored lighthouses. Groups may also rent the entire hostel facilities including their kitchens and indoor and outdoor public areas, for a completely private and expansive stay.

“Let’s Stay Safe, Together”

To give guests and staff added comfort upon reopening, HI USA has introduced its “Let’s Stay Safe, Together” program, which includes safe distancing guidelines, mask requirements for all staff and guests, temperature checks at check-in and for all staff daily, enhanced cleaning, and contact tracing. Initially, hostel kitchens will have limited services, cafes will be closed, and kitchens, lounges and public areas will have reduced capacity. Hostels’ dorm rooms will be sold at very reduced occupancy, so individual guests and small travel parties will have exclusive use of their dorm rooms. Organized group social activities remain suspended until further notice.

“We are excited to begin welcoming guests again to several of our hostels,” said Russ Hedge, CEO of HI USA. “While closed, we’ve been working to reconfigure spaces, create a comprehensive health and safety program and ensure that we can welcome guests in a safe way while still providing a fun experience that allows them to connect—while at a safe distance—and experience new people, places and cultures.”

Hostel Closings
However, the coronavirus pandemic and travel restrictions have created serious financial challenges for the organization, similar to what many other lodging, restaurant and venue operators have experienced. Some smaller and seasonal hostels could not be readily adapted to the new rigorous health and safety program. After an extensive review, HI USA determined that several were no longer feasible to continue operating and made the difficult decision to close select properties including HI Austin Hostel (in TX); HI Eastham Hostel (in Cape Cod, MA); HI Houston Hostel (in TX); HI LA South Bay Hostel (in CA); HI Madison Hostel (in WI); HI Monterey Hostel (in CA); HI Nantucket Hostel (in MA); and HI Portland Hawthorne Hostel (in OR).

“The decision to close any of our hostels is not one we take lightly,” said Hedge. “With most of our hostels closed for the past several months and the continued uncertainty surrounding the economy and coronavirus pandemic, it was not financially viable to reopen these hostels. HI USA is committed to our mission of fostering understanding and cultural exchange through hostelling, and we will emerge stronger, albeit as a smaller network, from this crisis period.”
